

What Our Audiences Say

Lawyers can be demanding audiences. They are not known to be enthusiastic about new ways of doing things. So, we are particularly pleased with the reactions our training programs are receiving:

Jeffrey Ritter provided an invaluable learning experience for our members. Jeffrey's unique perspective on the intersection of law and digital information changes the way any litigator will look at how to prove the truth of the matter. Entertaining, accessible and always focused on the reality of how to get things done.

Very knowledgeable.
Excellent organization.

Highly effective. Awesome.

Excellent presentation.

Brilliant and important.

Really informative and well-presented. By far, the most user friendly course . . .

Able to make the complex easy to understand.

Every litigator should take this course!

Your training session was tremendously valuable and inspirational and your meticulous preparation was impressive.

From my vantage point, I felt the programs were successful and hit the right mark. I think what you are doing is quite impressive. The fact patterns were extremely relevant and "real world" - interesting, thought-provoking and yes, even a little challenging, but isn't that the point? You've taken "learn-by-doing" and applied it to a difficult and important topic and in a way I have not seen anyone else do.

What a comprehensive and convincing discussion of the issues, the method of evaluating those issues, and the "solutions."
